No worries. Turner is always on the go (the life of a full time facilitator) when I contact him, so he probably hasn't had time yet.

I wanted to do this before the next meeting and they start accruing costs again. Turner just reminded me that the next meeting is next week.

 > Hi Laura - thanks for the information. I have calls with ODEQ today and next week to talk about the # of meetings that they believe they should do through April 2013. The meetings will be an estimate as ODEQ has been adjusting their meetings based on how much work technical staff has been able to get done. Also, they may choose to ramp up their meetings, since there would be enough money to have many intensive meetings.
